Sylvia Blesses Ill Wind

Children yesterday appreciated the old proverb about the ill wind that blows nobody good, because they reaped a harvest of fruit and chestnuts. Sylvia Derouin, 660 Belton, filled her arms over and over. This seven-year-old is already in grade four and disproves another old proverb that brains rarely are the handmaiden of beauty. (Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Three New Ministers

Major Cabinet Reshuffle Has Backbenchers Edgy

City Man Guilty

$22,000 In Taxes Evaded

Mohan Singh, proprietor of Ideal Fuel Co., 302 David, pleaded guilty in Saanich police court yesterday to three charges of income tax evasion totalling $22,018.11.

It is said to be the largest tax evasion case ever brought to court in Victoria.

Magistrate Henry Hall remanded Singh to Sept. 27 while he considered sentence.

"I have never had such a charge before me," he noted.

LONG PROBE

The charges against Singh resulted from eight months of investigation by an officer for the department of national revenue, A. W. Savage.

The three violations of the Income Tax Act, as detailed to court, are for $7,633.67 of income tax in 1952, $7,802.33 in 1953, and $6,771.81 in 1954.

Counsel for the department of national revenue, Carew Martin, QC, told court that penalties provided under the Income Tax Act make it "very obvious our legislature regards violations of this act as very serious."

Under section 132 of this act, Singh could be penalized on each count with a fine not exceeding $10,000, or imprisoned for up to two years, or receive both fine and imprisonment.

In this case the department did not ask for imprisonment, Mr. Martin said. But he thought a total fine of $7,000 would be "appropriate."

Singh, he noted, had not declared $46,459.04 of income, on which over $22,000 of tax was payable.

The accused had neither assisted in the department's investigation nor obstructed it, Mr. Martin said.

As a guide to the seriousness of the offence, he noted that when a tax evader cooperated thoroughly and the matter was settled out of court, the minister of national revenue was still obliged to levy a fine of between 25 and 50 per cent of the tax due.

Penalty is usually between 30 and 35 per cent of the tax evaded when the department is forced to take the case to court, he said.

CLEMENCY PLEA

Defence attorney William McIntyre acknowledged the seriousness of his client's offence, but said it would be in the "public interest" to allow Singh to continue in business and pay the tax and fine.

If fined too heavily or imprisoned, his business would collapse and his source of income dry up, Mr. McIntyre claimed.

The first consideration of the Crown is punishment Mr. Martin said.

Methods by which Singh evaded taxes, were detailed by Mr. Savage:

Singh cashed business receipts or deposited them in his wife's account without noting them in his business records.

PART RECORDED

He deposited business receipts in part, and took the balance in cash, but only recorded the deposit.

Items of revenue were recorded in his books, but when summarizing revenues, these weren't included in the totals. His share of the profit, when the fuel company was a partnership, was not declared in his tax statement.

Altogether 83 separate items of evasion were noted, Mr. Savage said. Singh has paid $3,115.76 towards taxes owed since the investigation.

Speculation Centres On Lands-Forests

By PETER BRUTON
Colonist Legislative Reporter

The election is behind the successful Social Credit candidates, but now they are nervously setting their sights on a much bigger prize—a seat in the provincial cabinet.

Pre-election worries returned with greater force yesterday as the government backbenchers realized that major cabinet reshuffle was in the offing.

At least two and probably three new cabinet ministers will be appointed by Premier Bennett in the near future.

But the premier yesterday refused to make any statements about his new cabinet until after an immediate two-week vacation he plans to take after his return to Victoria Saturday.

Premier Bennett and his nine cabinet colleagues were all returned to office in Wednesday's polls. They hold 16 portfolios.

Speculation by political observer yesterday centred on a new minister of lands and forests—a job ably held down since last February by Education Minister Ray Williston.

Mr. Williston took over, of course, after the resignation of Robert E. Sommers earlier this year.

Nearly Impossible

The strain of running this department alone is enough to tax the resources of one man but with the education department to look after as well the task becomes nearly impossible.

However, observers feel that Wednesday's decisive verdict was not only a great endorsement of the government but a clear endorsement of Mr. Sommers as well.

Voting in Mr. Sommers' riding of Rossland-Trail, and throughout the province for that matter, spoke as graphically as words the order the public has given the premier —"Put Sommers back in the cabinet."

But the former minister must first fight his suit against Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy.

It is felt, therefore, that Mr. Williston will continue to head both departments for a while longer with a strong possibility that Mr. Sommers will take over his old portfolio if he is successful in the courts.

The government has virtually promised that it will set up a new portfolio to deal with recreation, game, and possibly youth affairs.

Strongest Contender

Strongest contender appears to be Cyril Shefford, Social Credit MLA for Omineca since 1952.

Mr. Shefford, 35-year-old farmer, served five years overseas during the Second World War and has plugged for the establishment of such a portfolio as planned in almost every speech he has made since he was first elected.

Throughout the short campaign Premier Bennett made a point of praising women voters of the province for being the first to place their trust in the Social Credit movement.

He has let it be known that he is anxious to have a lady cabinet member but Mrs. Arsens, who embarrassed the government on several occasions, was never offered a post.

Mrs. Arsens was defeated Wednesday but Social Credit elected a very able woman in Mrs. Buda Brown, who downed Liberal leader Arthur Laing in Vancouver-Point Grey.

The new member has served on the Vancouver Parks Board for years and is definite cabinet material.

Interesting Possibility

One interesting possibility mentioned in political circles yesterday was the splitting up of health and welfare department, now headed by Eric Martin, and the appointment of Mrs. Brown as minister of welfare and possibly youth affairs.

One point might affect this possibility, however.

The three-member Vancouver-Point Grey riding already has one cabinet member, Attorney-General Robert Bonner. It is unusual to have two cabinet ministers from the same constituency.

Vancouver Island is expected to have another cabinet minister.

Works—Minister W. N. Chant of Victoria is the only minister from the Island in the cabinet. Counting Greater Victoria, there are 10 seats on Vancouver Island of which the Socialists hold six.

There are two possibilities — Herbert J. Bruch of Esquimalt and Mayor Earle C. Westwood of Nanaimo.

Mr. Bruch, who played a prominent role in organizing Social Credit during the abortive attempt to sweep Saskatchewan lost out to Mr. Chant when the works department was separated from the highways portfolio in 1955.

On the other hand, Mayor Westwood is valuable cabinet calibre and his appointment would give the up-Island constituencies a representative in the executive council.

Department Division

One of the possibilities also being mentioned yesterday was a division of the municipal affairs and provincial secretary's departments governed at present by Wesley Black of Nelson-Creston.

Mayor Westwood, with his experience in municipal government, would be well-suited to take over municipal affairs although he would naturally have to resign as chief magistrate of Nanaimo.

Ald. Mel Bryan, of North Vancouver, also has a background in civic affairs and is still another possibility if this department is split.

On the same reasoning AM. Don Smith of Victoria would also stand a chance but with a cabinet minister already representing the city riding, it is considered highly unlikely.

Showing of Lee Peterson, the young Social Crediter who won the Vancouver Centre by election earlier this year and was re-elected Wednesday, also places him in the running for a cabinet job.

The youthful lawyer has ability and drive and he may well be one of the new cabinet members.

Drew Quits Today.

OTTAWA (CP) — An announcement is almost certain to be made today on the future plans of Progressive Conservative leader Drew, it was learned Thursday night.

The expectation here is that the announcement will be of the 62-year-old Opposition leader's retirement because of failing health.

William Rowe, the party's executive secretary at headquarters here, was on his way back to the capital overnight from Toronto.

Mr. Rowe was in Toronto Thursday. A party source said he was due back in Ottawa today and would have an announcement.

The Montreal Gazette, in a special front-page dispatch from Toronto where Mr. Drew is in hospital for a rest, says the Progressive Conservative chief has decided to resign for health reasons.

Males Smell Better

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — A perfume chemist said Thursday the average American male uses more perfumed products today than the ladies.

Dr. Oliver L. Marton, chief perfumer of Shulton, Inc., Clifton, N.J., reported that men's purchases of fragrance total three times as much as women spend on "perfume, toilet water, cologne, bath salts, bubble bath and so forth."

He told the American Chemical Society that American men spend more than $250,000,000 yearly on before, during and after-shaving products alone—exclusive of what they spend for such "big toiletry items as hair tonics and deodorants."

Strike Cripples Packers

CHICAGO (AP)—Operations of Swift and Company, the largest meat packer in the United States, were crippled Thursday by a walk-out of 25,000 workers in 37 cities. The striking unions described the strike as "effective."

Swift normally produces about one-fifth of the U.S. federally-inspected meat, but the single-company strike raised no prospect of shortages. Industry sources said Swift's operating plants and other packing houses could boost their production to meet needs.

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio announced last night Russia has cancelled a sellout London visit of Moscow's Bolshoi Theatre ballet because of Britain's treatment of a Soviet woman discus thrower.

It said the step was taken because of "incomprehensible provocation" against Nina Ponomareva, the 27-year-old Olympic women's discus champion.

She has been hunted by British police since she skipped bail Aug. 30 on a charge of shoplifting five cheap, colorful hats from a West End store.

The world famous ballet company was scheduled to open a month's season at the Covent Garden opera house Oct. 3.

All seats for all performances have been sold out. Some Londoners queued for more than two days to get tickets. Newspapers every day carried advertisements either pleading for, or offering seats at fancy prices.

The broadcast said members of the company wrote a letter to the government newspaper Izvestia saying they were afraid they might be "subjected to some sort of persecution."

Eighty tons of ballet scenery were still lying in crates on a pier. The Russians refused to let the scenery be taken to the opera house until the Soviet ministry of culture gave the word.

Nina was reported to be somewhere in London. Her teammates went back without her after cancelling the charges against Nina.

The Soviet government has officially asked the British foreign office to have the charges quashed. The foreign office has replied officially it can't interfere with British courts.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UP) — The British provincial government early today climaxed a day of anti-British demonstration by hanging three Greek Cypriots convicted of armed attacks on British servicemen.

The executions followed a day of demonstrations by thousands of Cypriots who closed shops or walked off their jobs in protest.

The men were hanged shortly after midnight. Security measures around the prison at the time were the heaviest ever imposed.

Around midnight the demonstrations were still going on in front of the prison. Suddenly there was silence as police of-

UN Opens Talks On Atom Control

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—An 81-power conference to set up an international atomic energy agency opened Thursday. There were immediate indications of growing opposition to Western-approved control proposals.

Switzerland joined India, the Soviet Union and some others with objections to powers of inspection and control laid down in a proposed constitution the conference will debate. A floor battle loomed before the constitution signing ceremony is reached about Oct. 26.

The opening session in the redecorated UN Assembly hall was marked by 84 minutes of speech-making in a vain attempt of the Soviet Union, India and 13 other countries to get an invitation extended to Red China. They did not present a formal resolution to back up their demand.

Red China was not invited because the original General Assembly resolution limited invitations to 57 members of the UN and its specialized agencies. Communist China belongs to none.

The proposed agency would distribute fissionable material for peaceful uses to countries that do not have any.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

EVER alert to guard the morals of the public, Hollywood has grafted yet another Pollyanna ending upon an honest story.

The subject this time is "The Bad Seed," a spine-chilling yarn about a little girl who murders people she doesn't like. In the book and stage play, she gets away with it.

But the movie is different. In the movies, nobody gets away with murder. Nobody gets away with anything. The good guys must be rewarded or avenged. The bad guys must be punished.

So what happens to the little murderer in the movie version of "The Bad Seed"? She gets what's coming to her. Right at the end of the movie, she is struck dead by lightning.

The magic touch of Hollywood transforms a chronicle of violence into a story with a message. And the message is this: Don't kill people, kiddies. If you do, a thunderbolt will descend from the clouds and fry you medium rare.

Nobody wants the movies to offer a short course in practical crime, with advice on dodging arrest. But there is something fatuous in the idea of calling down the power of Nature to beat an evil character at the last minute when human agencies have failed. It is a corny old device of fifth-rate dramatists.

No device is too corny for Hollywood to use in its campaign to convince us that we inhabit a beautiful world where crime is always punished and troubles end happily if we live right. A 20th-century Shakespeare, employed by Warner Brothers, might have rewritten his script so that Romeo wasn't really poisoned to death but only groggy from an overdose of sleeping pills, and Juliet sustained a minor flesh wound.

Hollywood's world is unreal. In the real world, crimes and injustices often go unpunished and good people come to a tragic end.

Hollywood is committed by a self-imposed code of morals to keep its huge audience thinking that Everything Is Going To Be All Right. If you hear this pleasant lie repeated often enough, you begin to believe it. You want more. It's like a drug. And while you are dreaming the cheerful Hollywood dreams, the real world may collapse in ruins on your head.

Not Official

Socred Majority at 3-1

Social Credit rolled up a 3-1 majority in the provincial legislature yesterday when the last doubtful seat was decided and the unofficial first count of votes cast Wednesday was virtually completed.

Election officials pointed out that the result will not become official until the second count Oct. 2, when absentee ballots are included.

Results are close enough in six of the 52 seats so that recounts may be requested, but only in three of these is there any likelihood of a change.

After Fred Sharp won the second seat in traditionally socialist Vancouver East, standings in the legislature were (with 1953 results in brackets):

Social Credit 39 (25), CCF 10 (14), Liberals 2 (4), Labor 1 (1) and Progressive Conservative 0 (1).

In B.C. history, the Social Credit victory, for a single party, was second only to the sweep of the McBride Conservative government in 1912, when it won 40 of the 42 seats at the time. Coalition won 39 of 48 seats in 1945.

Maritime Big Five Back Dulles' Plan

LONDON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles Thursday won the support of most of the world's main shipping powers for his six-point program of united action to challenge sole Egyptian control of the Suez Canal.

Despite reservations of Pakistan, Sweden, Spain, Iran and Denmark, Italy and the United States, a big majority of the nations.

The conference accepted the main provisions of Dulles' approach toward a settlement with Egypt. An informed source said that, with this backing achieved, the talks will end today.

A British spokesman said that various amendments to the six points submitted Wednesday, by Dulles "were made and accepted."

"It is now in all but the final form," he added. "There are still one or two things to square up."

At the nub of Dulles' program is the formation of a working organization to be officially called "The Co-operative Association of Suez Canal Users."

The backers include the maritime Big Five who control 75 per cent of the world's shipping. These are Britain, Norway, tion to their aims and to his promise to keep alive the principle of free passage. There will be no insistence that the association's own pilots guide the vessels through the waterway.

probably would lead to reference of the dispute to the UN Security Council.

A "guinea pig" run through the canal by a ship or convoy representing the association's members shortly will test Nasser's reaction.

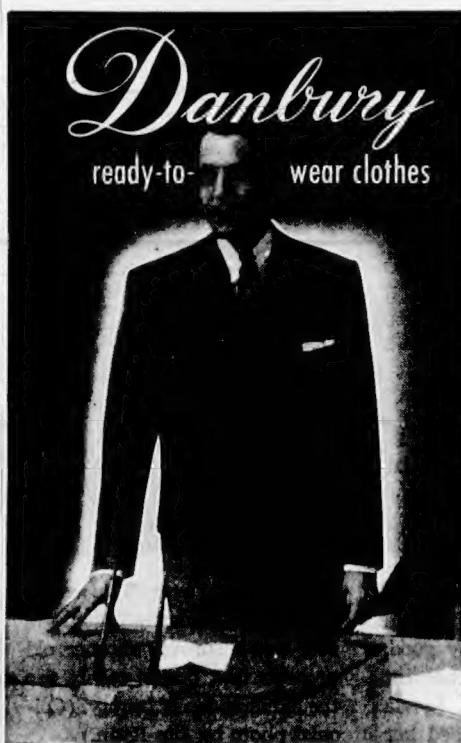

American officials reported "great progress" after the 18th ended their second session of the Dulles "were made and accepted."

Rock Gardens The Easy Way

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

If you are planning on making a rock garden this fall, it seems to me that first choice of plants should be given to the easy, free-flowering kinds which will give a bright display over the longest possible period of time.

These "easy-doers" should form the foundation of the planting scheme, after which we can indulge our fancies in growing the more difficult and expensive alpine which demand special treatment.

TIMED BLOOMS

There are lots of these easy-to-grow plants to choose from, but it is important not to go overboard on any one kind. For instance, no plants are more colorful in spring than the Aubrietias, but if you plant too many, you'll get a great blaze of color for a couple of weeks, and nothing at all in flower for the rest of the year.

This is a very common fault, and far too many rock gardens are drab and colorless after the first spring flush of bloom is finished.

The Aubrietias look best, I think, when they are draped down over vertical rock faces. Some of the best are Carnival, a rich violet-purple; Crimson Queen, Russell's Crimson, Mrs. Lloyd Edwards (purple) and Mrs. Maurice Prichard, bright rose.

Paris Bakers to Bake

PARIS (Reuters) — Striking tomorrow in Paris, he said, strike in an attempt to force the Parisian bakers voted Thursday "there must be a little bread on government to increase the price of bread."

As he spoke, the government considered plans to draft young bakers' table for military service where, one angry baker, supporting the strike, marched into the store of a fellow baker, who stayed open, and destroyed an oven.

The bakery shop owners are on overvalued money.

After Ballerinas

Lifting Freight Child's Play

WINNIPEG (CP) — Nenad Lhotka, the ballet master who quit the Royal Winnipeg Ballet last week, now is doing his pas-de-deux with 300-pound refrigerators as a laborer at the CNR freight sheds here.

"Why not?" he said in an interview Thursday. "This is nothing to be ashamed of."

Mr. Lhotka resigned his position with the ballet last week "because Ruthanna Boris, the company's new prima ballerina from New York, is trying to boss things too much." His wife also resigned.

Mr. Lhotka, who plans to open a dancing school here shortly, says of his new work:

"Lifting freight? It's nothing compared to some of those ballerinas."

Marler to Inspect Pat Bay Facilities

Air terminal facilities at the Patricia Bay airport will be inspected by Transport Minister George Marler tomorrow when he leaves Victoria after his second annual inspection trip to this area.

A Victoria Chamber of Commerce delegation, led by past president Stuart Keate, yesterday asked Mr. Marler, if any, the end of August compared to 173,768 persons during the same period a year ago.

Mr. Marler replied that the emphasis of the department of transport is on installation of safety equipment.

He said "some progress" is being made on new terminals, turns to Ottawa in two weeks but the cost is very high.

Overwhelming Victory

With plausage the mandate he asked for at the polls, with a better than three-to-one majority of seats in the new Legislature. The overwhelming nature of the Social Credit victory has truncated the alibi, and may impose something of an embarrassment on the party in power. Substantially the polling has eliminated much of the middle ground in the 25th Legislature which formerly was represented by the two old-line parties. A government of the new right confronts an opposition of the new left with very little common ground between. That will lay fresh obligations on both the administration and the opposition if all the people of the province are to be given equal consideration.

This was acknowledged by the Premier when at Kelowna after the polls he said that the administration would consider itself as holding a trusteeship for all of the people. It was as plainly, though more indirectly, voiced by the CCF leader of the Opposition, Mr. Strachan, when he commented that the government would need to learn how to take just criticism. Both thoughts are woven into the same fabric, and that is continuing recognition of the basic function of parliament to represent all of the people. This recognition on both counts is encouraging. There need be no reason to fear the overwhelming weight of government in the 25th Legislature if the public interest is kept uppermost.

The reality of the administration's mandate can hardly be questioned. Premier Bennett was returned with all members of his cabinet. The government took every seat it had in the last House save one, added three of the four newly created constituencies and made firm gains from all three parties in opposition. The return of Mr. Sommers in his own riding may be a personal vindication of the former minister, but it has not altered the obligation of the government to clear up the contentious and disputed tangles which came to a head at the last session. In its own interest, we think that this should be done.

In individual fortunes at the ballot box many will regret the loss of Mr. Frank Calde, the first representative of the Indian people in a British Columbia Legislature. Mr. Archie Gibbs in Oak Bay and Mr. George Gregory in Victoria won personal victories in the face of heavy odds. Veteran Tom Uphill, at 81, may now add another four years to his amazing record, unique in B.C. annals. Government candidates for the most part benefited from the administration's political good fortune, and opposition members had to fight hard for their seats. The defeat of both Liberal and Progressive Conservative leaders must have repercussions in both parties.

On the whole, the general election has been nothing if not decisive. The result is a mandate to the Bennett regime to go ahead now with its main policies in the development of British Columbia, to keep its pledges and to remember that strength requires self-control to avoid pitfalls.

Failure of 'Soft' Approach

DISSATISFACTION which Police Chief Archer of Vancouver has expressed with the practice of treating 18 and 19-year-old hooligans as juveniles is causing some controversy across the country. Generally speaking opinion appears to be fairly equally divided, with the sociologists and those whose job is to enforce the law and stop rowdiness on opposite sides.

One can sympathize with the police in the frustration which many believe to be the result of the modern "soft" approach in the treatment of young offenders. Mostly in Vancouver, but also in Victoria and Nanaimo, the police have been fighting a losing battle against the hoodlum element for several years. Whether or not the degree of lenience to those brought into court has much to do with this is a matter of opinion. The plain fact remains, however, that pillage, senseless destruction of public and private property, assaults against women and girls, offensiveness on the streets, attacks on police officers and brutal back-alley beatings are more prevalent today than at any other time within memory.

The reformers—who though inspired by the sincerest motives appear to place more importance on the rehabilitation of a few rotten apples than the protection of all decent people—have had their opportunity to demonstrate the effectiveness of the friendly hand and the kind word with young troublemakers, many of whom might have been more impressed by a good wallop. Confronted with the mounting record of vandalism and violence, can they confidently say that this approach is a success?

These lawless 18 and 19-year-olds—a small minority of the youthful population—own cars and motorcycles, earn men's wages and assert the independence that goes with maturity. When they deliberately defy the law, the police and the public, what right have they to be treated as children under the protection of the juvenile court? With some exceptions, for whom it should be possible to make provision, their place would appear to be in the public court. Alternatively, if they are to be classed legally as children then they should be punished as children used to be. The return of the hunch might do more good than soft soap. Magistrates are experienced, understanding men who can distinguish between those richly deserving a thrashing and those whose real need is guidance. A great many people have grown tired of the doctrine that young blackguards should never on any account be humiliated or made to feel physical pain.

Exemplary Service

NEVER in politics but for a lifetime a civil servant par excellence, Mr. W. A. McAdam, British Columbia's popular agent-general in London, was being welcomed back in the city yesterday, along with Mrs. McAdam. He is back on the coast in a furlough from the United Kingdom office to which he has given outstandingly fine service for a quarter of a century. In peace and in war, "B.C. House, London," has been a notable address. Mr. McAdam through it all has remained the quiet, unselfish and extremely capable official who not only speaks for British Columbia in Great Britain, but has induced scores of Britons to cross the water to look at this province for themselves.

Apart from his official duties and they include the wise and provident management of the province's investment in B.C. House, Mr. McAdam has acted as guide, philosopher and friend to two generations of British Columbians in uniform in wartime. We do not know of many men in B.C. who to the same extent could claim as many friends won in the hard years of world conflict through friendly and able counsel. It is known that tenure of office at the same post in London can be his for as long as he wishes that. It will be the hope of the very wide circle of his friends that after this furlough he will once again feel the call of B.C. House stirring irresistibly.

Interpreting the News

Middle East Oil Revenues

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

PRESIDENT Nasser of Egypt probably is watching the London conference on Suez with considerable anxiety.

Nasser claims the support of the Arab countries in his attempt to seize the Suez Canal. The political committee of the Arab League, in fact, has just voted approval of Nasser's nationalization of the canal. It has denounced Great Britain and France for sending troops to the Middle East.

There is talk that, if the Suez dispute ever reached the fighting stage, Arabs would cut the pipe lines which carry oil to Arabian seaports.

But that oil situation, while it has not received as much attention as some other aspects of the Suez situation, is a very big one to some of the Arab countries.

The less trouble Nasser stirs up, the better for them. Some of the Arab countries including Iraq and Saudi Arabia, both prominent members of the Arab League, just about live on their oil revenues.

About 850,000 barrels of oil flow each day through the two big pipelines. This oil, from Saudi Arabia and Iraq, goes direct to the Mediterranean and is independent of the canal.

About 1,200,000 barrels have been moving daily through the Suez Canal, including some from Saudi Arabia and Iraq.

If the pipe lines were cut, the biggest losers would be Saudi Arabia and Iraq.

Other Arab oil-producing countries would be hit hard if the Western countries boycotted the Suez Canal.

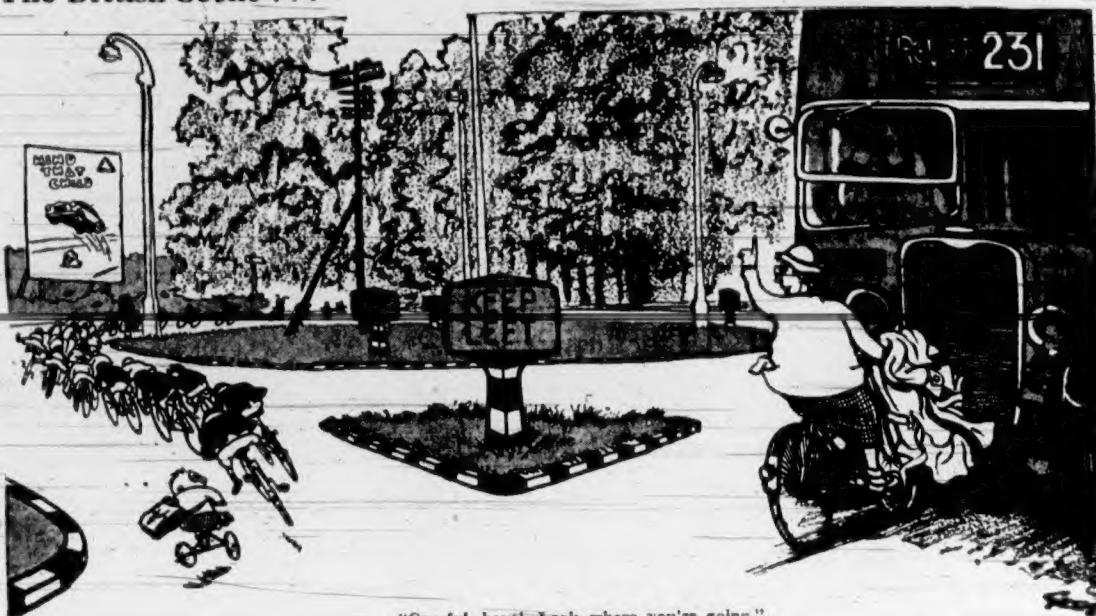

That boycott threat, of course, lies behind the attempt in the London conference to form a Suez Canal users' association.

If the association is formed, and Nasser refuses to co-operate with it, a boycott of the canal is in prospect.

There are credible reports that some of the Arab countries, despite their expressed support of Nasser, are not too happy over his ambition to become "Mr. Big" of the Arab world. That is notably true of Jordan. But it is reported that King Saud of Saudi Arabia also is worried about Nasser.

King Saud gets more than $250,000,000 a year in royalties from the American-owned Arabian-American Oil Co. Iraq gets about $160,000,000 a year from the Iraq Petroleum Co., jointly owned by American, British, French and Dutch interests. Tiny Kuwait on the Persian Gulf, incidentally, gets $280,000,000 a year in oil royalties. Its population totals 200,000.

Regardless of the pipe line situation, there will be some big and lasting changes in the oil industry if there is a boycott of the Suez Canal and oil production in the Western Hemisphere is stepped up to replace Middle Eastern oil. The changes will be made at the expense of Middle Eastern oil-producing countries.

"Careful, boys! Look where you're going."

Arctic Rockets

Exploring the Atmosphere

(From the National Research Council, Ottawa)

THE Arctic launching site for rockets at Fort Churchill will be ready in October for its part in the International Geophysical Year (IGY) to begin officially next July. This has been announced by Dr. Joseph Kaplan and Mr. F. T. Davies, chairmen respectively of the United States and the Canadian national committees of the IGY.

The program of rocket launches in the Arctic is part of the intensive international study of the earth, the atmosphere and the sun, to be conducted over the entire world from July, 1957, to December, 1958. From this program scientists of all nations hope to gain a better understanding of the earth's structure and various effects in the atmosphere such as aurora and airglow, cosmic rays and solar activity.

Rocket experts chose Fort Churchill for two reasons: it is readily accessible, and it lies within the "Arctic auroral belt" where Northern Lights are most easily observed. The rocket launches are part of the scientific effort of the United States to explore the atmosphere in the Arctic to a height of 180 miles. Aerobee rockets will be used for high altitudes and smaller two-stage rockets for lower altitudes.

Preliminary rocket flights will begin in late October or November under the direction of the U.S. scientists. Canadian scientists co-operating in the tests at Fort Churchill will make observations on the ground which will tie in closely with measurements taken by the rockets.

The Fort Churchill rocket site is a multi-million dollar establishment financed by the U.S. Miles of roadway have been laid through muskeg; hundreds of cubic yards of concrete have been poured to provide pads on which to mount the launching towers, fuel bunkers, assembly buildings, and scientific devices needed on the ground to track the rockets in flight.

Many branches of the U.S. defence services are lending their support to this scientific venture. The U.S. Corps of Engineers has been working with heavy earth movers, trucks, cranes and concrete mixers to complete the site this year before the Arctic winter sets in. The Ordnance Corps of the U.S. Army will maintain and operate the site during the IGY.

The U.S. Navy is providing experienced launching crews and will supply electronic instruments, both to be carried in the rockets and to pick up the messages on the ground. The U.S. Signal Corps will provide communications between the many outlying sites to be used as observation points, and will also supply the radar sets needed to follow the rocket flights. The U.S. Air Force will transport men and equipment to Fort Churchill.

Scientific instruments carried by the rockets will measure density, temperature, pressure and wind velocities in the Arctic atmosphere at heights never before studied. They will also take measurements of the ionosphere—the upper region of rarified, ionized gas between 50 and 250 miles above the earth's surface—which reflects radio waves in long-distance communication. The rockets will record effects of the sun's light at high altitudes, and such phenomena as Northern Lights, cosmic rays, and the earth's magnetism. The Fort Churchill program will be tied in with similar rocket flights to be made by the British, Australians, French, and Japanese during the International Geophysical Year.

"This joint United States-Canadian rocketry effort," said Dr. Kaplan and Mr. Davies, "affords another example of the international co-operative aspects of the IGY program without which this world-wide effort to explore the natural surroundings of man would be impossible."

Letter from London

Color Problem Reaches Britain

By RICHARD L. THOMAS, Daily Colonist Correspondent

IF THERE is one thing which seems to disturb the British conscience more than another it is the capacity of the seemingly intelligent United States citizen to work himself into a frenzy over racial problems. It becomes more difficult to understand because Americans generally do not seem to support the South African government's attitude to apartheid, and it is probably true that Americans generally are not very proud of this southern racial hatred.

Yet there is something about this attitude which makes us feel uncomfortable. People in glass houses should not throw stones. We have not yet indulged in racial riots, but there is quite a lot of unreasonable behavior. For the first time in British history there is a "color problem" in Britain. We are approaching a total of 100,000 West Indians resident in this country, and these thousands need to work.

There have been one or two ugly scenes in the transport world. There have been threats to refuse to work with colored men and women despite the fact that there is a shortage of crews. We have had colored conductors in London for some time now, but only recently has the colored driver appeared with London Transport. The Transport and General Workers' Union insists that there is no color bar, but individual garages exert a "no color" pressure which the employers acknowledge.

It is unlikely that any English union would officially declare against colored workers or in any way back a strike inspired by their employment, but they do not hesitate to leave to each area the decision as to whether the men and women will work with their darker-skinned brothers.

It is perhaps the happiest aspect that the least trouble is to be found in the schools. It seems that both teachers and white pupils enjoy having the colored children and they in turn seem happy.

Travelling on a late bus with a colored conductor and very few passengers as it approached the end of the run, I was able to test his reactions. He seemed quite a philosopher in his way. His main troubles were not racial but the things which worry all of us—the cost of living and the shortage of accommodation and, of course, the expenses of what there is.

There was, he told me, definite racial discrimination when it came to accommodation. He had on several occasions arranged inspections of flats by telephone and when he arrived been informed that they were let. When he first started work he felt a little uncomfortable, but there were always a number of men who went out of their way to be friendly.

"The racial problem in Britain," he said, "shows itself largely in the recognition of race. The fact that some people go out of their way to be pleasant shows that they recognize that others are being unpleasant. The fact that you have asked me how I am getting on—how I like my work and so on—have you ever asked a white conductor that? Why do you assume that there are difficulties? Because you know it from your own experience."

He smiled and added: "There will always be racial differences until people just come to accept one another naturally. Say that to some people and they immediately think in terms of inter-marriage. The great majority of colored people are as much opposed to mixed marriages as the majority of white people. I do think that the majority of white people regard themselves as our superiors and I'll add that usually they are right—but it is not the fault of the colored man and woman. It is just the fact that they have not had the same opportunities."

His argument was interesting because school teachers have told me that if anything the colored children are more intelligent than the white children with a comparative background. This colored bus conductor spoke a good deal more intelligently than the majority of white conductors. There is one notable exception in my experience. There is a London conductor who was a submarine commander during the war. I asked him why he was conducting. "Conceit," he said. When I looked incredulous he said, "Definitely conceit—I just had to be skipper of something."

During the next few years there will be some tens of thousands of colored children going through the English educational mill. It will be interesting to see what happens, but the inference at the present time is that they will make a better showing in proportion to numbers than their white schoolmates. The question then is whether it will affect racial relations.

An American put it pretty bluntly to me when he said that inter-racial educational problems such as we have heard about during the past few weeks are really based on jealousy. He described it as a twin jealousy—the determination of the white to show his superiority and the determination of the colored to show his equality. The white, dead-end, being "shown up" educationally by a bright colored child.

Latent jealousy may emerge here when it is found that the white child fails the 11-plus examination and the colored child sails through. We can only hope that it will not. At the moment the problem is least in evidence amongst the children and, of course, our colored immigrants have not reached the stage where they qualify for subsidized council houses. That may create the problem of "whites first" just as one is conscious of the fact that much of the white worker's attitude is inspired by a fear of what might happen if workers become redundant. Would they agree to the conventional "last in, first out" policy if it meant that some whites had to go before the colored?

My colored conductor could not help. "I hope to be back in the West Indies before that arises," he said. "I am saving all I can and with the money I hope to establish myself back home. After all, this is a white man's country. I came here to earn money and I don't mind how hard I work."

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

IT MAY be because we are living in such prosperous and lush times, but you do not have to look very far around you to see all sorts of instances that indicate a decided drop in that respect for money which has characterized mankind for ages past.

It is not 10, certainly not 20 years since money was a sacred thing. Both rich and poor revered it in all its manifestations.

If the present trend continues, in which money is something to chase after, as in a game, and to get rid of as fast and as fancifully as we know how, even a financial crash may never be able to restore its sanctity.

The latest instance in my mind was provided by a man I have known since early manhood, who built a small manufacturing enterprise into a big one and who, about 10 years ago, went into partnership with another vigorous and prosperous manufacturer to form a really good-sized industry that would make them both very wealthy men.

When in due course I met his partner I took an immediate dislike to him, for he was one of those bland, chilly-eyed gentlemen you encounter in industry who thinks of nothing but business and never goes fishing, never plays the fool, never buys a hat different from the one he has been wearing for 20 years, never is quoted in the newspaper saying something silly, never owned a dog, never flirted, never buys a car other than dark blue.

I learned recently that my friend and he had fallen out, and such bad blood had developed that the cold-eyed gentleman was buying out my friend. When the terms of the deal became known, people who know about such things told me my friend had settled for less than half the sum he might have got, or should have got, for his interest in the business. It was a scandal.

Next time I saw my friend, he was looking his old, carefree, happy self. I at once mentioned what I had heard from competent businessmen about the raw deal he had got.

"Sure," he said, "I hear it all over. But everybody misses the point. Don't you see? I would hate to think I owed anything to such a heel."

He threw away a wad of money in order to feel good inside.

Mr. Justice Seeks Justice

(From The Ottawa Journal)

MR. Justice Charles D. Stewart of the Ontario Supreme Court has been remanded until Dec. 10 on a parking charge brought against him in Barrie. He entered a plea of "not guilty" and declined to enter into any discussion in police court until the date of the hearing.

The judge will have thousands, unlearned in the law, beside him in spirit when he pleads his case. The motorist who finds a parking ticket on the windshield may feel he has a point to argue, but the panoply of the police court and the remorseless dignity of the law usually make him conclude it is easier to pay his two or three dollars and depart, muttering.

Mr. Justice Stewart doubtless has a case and the skill to argue it. Win or lose, he will have made the remote dignitaries of the law join their fellow men for a minute, united in the humble quest for simple justice.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

We are told how many miles an hour one new model car can go faster than its rivals. How many it can go faster than necessary is more important.

During a recent exhibition of modern art in Paris a notebook was available for visitors to write down their names, impressions of the exhibited art and the reason for their visits. An unknown hand scribbled: "Did not understand a thing. Reason for the visit—very bad weather outside."

The current issues in Egypt aren't getting the public nearly as worked up as they would if someone suggested putting fluorides into the canal.

Letters to the Editor

Abuse of Power

In the early days of this century, unbridled capitalism required restraint and received it in the form of legislation. At the present time the power formerly held by capitalism has shifted to labor. We observe the spectacle of a few men at Campbell River and elsewhere in the province holding up vast works, which are of paramount importance to the people of this province for the purpose of settling a jurisdictional matter between the unions.

It is true that it is being pushed around by unbridled misuse of power by some individuals. In fairness, I would point out that the unions' leaders in this case are trying to persuade the men to go back to work. In this instance, of course, the matter of who collects the dues is very important. Union management is extremely rewarding and lucrative to the managers.

If it is true that an injunction was served and disregarded by the picketers in this strike, I cannot see how the government can ignore this flouting of the law. I am quite sure if one parked a car in a bus stop, the law would move swiftly and surely, but the latter case is a much less serious infraction of the law. I am sure many feel as I do about this matter. The great question is, how much longer will these abuses continue?

M. P. PAINE

719 View Street, Victoria, B.C.

Deplorable Scheme

Is there no member of the Lions Club to whom one could appeal to raise his voice in protest to this worse than useless project of a children's zoo? I have yet to hear one single argument in favor of it.

Does this organization imagine it is dealing with slum children who have never seen an animal other than a cat? Few indeed are the youngsters who have not a pet of some kind. Then again we read "children are to handle young animals—dead birds." Any wonder knows that handling young creatures is very harmful to them and the last thing they would permit.

Other questions worthy one. Who is going to be in charge of these hapless little victims of this misguided project? Who shelter will be provided? It blows cold in Beacon Hill Park.

I hope the business men and service clubs will find they have something else to do with their money than help such a deplorable scheme—besides running our lovely park. If films can be seen, let that be enough. Zoots, either children or otherwise, should have no place in our so-called enlightened world.

Dam Will Destroy Famed Rapids

Have a good look at this aerial view of famed Long Sault Rapids near Cornwall, Ont. You may not see them again. They will be dried up by December, as part of the St. Lawrence Seaway project, by a cofferdam built above the rapids. The St. Lawrence River will be diverted via a man-made cut in Long Sault Island and on through the completed portion of the spillway dam.—(CP)

Politicians React

Baffled, Bitter, Bubbling

Politicians of three parties made baffled, bitter or bubbling statements yesterday about the sweeping Social Credit election victory Wednesday.

Liberal leader Arthur Laing was "puzzled" about the losses of his party.

"I can't think of anything we did wrong or left undone," he said. "The people admire the boldness and see the recklessness of the government. Taking caution probably cost us some votes."

Asked about reports that an early leadership convention might be held by the Liberals, Mr. Laing replied: "I'm not going to say anything."

The Conservative Party will carry on, said leader Deane Finlayson, because "if we quit this province it, and maybe all of Canada, will ultimately have a political dictatorship."

"Fascism is taking root," he said. "What in God's name is the matter with the people of this province?"

Mr. Finlayson said re-election of Social Credit showed "the worst kind of materialism" and voters showed no interest in political principles, "particularly in Rossland-Trail."

In Trail, re-elected Social R. E. Sommers said: "This just shows you how firm people can stand in the face of a tornado of mud-slinging, but would not comment when asked if he will proceed with his slander suit against David Sturdy."

Premier Manning of Alberta said "the overwhelming vote of confidence ... confirms the many reports of the outstanding job the Social Credit government has done in B.C. in the short time it has been charged with the province's administration."

B. H. Rempel, Manitoba Social Credit League president, said he expects similar results in the next Manitoba election.

He added: "There might have been some doubt as to the effect of the Sommers affair on the general result, but apparently in B.C., where the matter was known and best understood, the outcome has been most satisfactory in our forces."

Commercial TV in U.K. In Red—But Healthy

LONDON (Reuters)—British commercial television celebrates its first birthday this weekend, with healthy viewer ratings but an ailing balance sheet.

More than 4,500,000 Britons seem to prefer commercial television to the rival channel of the government-owned British Broadcasting Corporation.

But, although commercial television has captured from 60 to 70 per cent of the BBC's former audience, the venture has not been financially successful to date.

Under the Television Act of 1961, the commercial TV organization is entitled to a yearly grant of £7.5 million—payable by the postmaster general but only with the consent of the British treasury.

The postmaster general announced last month however that channel was supposed to be an Returning after several years are Socialists William Asselstine, George Maxson, Delta; Hugh Shireff, Skeena; W. H. Murray, Prince Rupert; Stanley Cornell, Peace River South; and H. E. Roche, Peace River North.

Re-elected with an increased majority (his 70 per cent majority was the greatest single triumph in the province).

R. E. Sommers—re-elected with an increased majority and more votes than his three opponents combined.

Attorney-General R. W. Bonner—re-elected with an increased majority.

Arthur Laing—defeated by more than 3,000 votes.

Deane Finlayson—defeated by more than 6,000 votes.

George Gregory—re-elected with an increased majority, but third in a three-member riding.

Fate of seven candidates principally concerned with the Sommers-Sturdy race during the election campaign:

Allistone Trails

Ernest Allistone—former Socialist, who claimed the government had priority knowledge of charges concerning Sommers, ran 12th of 14 candidates in a three-member riding.

Ald. Don Smith, successful Socialist candidate in Victoria, declined comment yesterday when asked if he would seek re-election to city council this year.

He said he would decide "when things quiet down."

Vote counters in this area reported that only in the four Greater-Victoria ridings—where Social Credit popular vote margins reduced from the 1953 election.

Premier Bennett and R. E. Sommers exchanged telegrams on election night.

Mr. Sommers' telegram, sent first, said simply: "It's wonderful."

The premier replied: "Congratulations, Bob. I knew you'd make it."

Female Logic Foiled

POWELL RIVER, B.C.—(CP)—Some people like to back a winner he it a day at the races or a day at the polls.

At 11 a.m. Wednesday, returning officer J. S. P. Johnson was asked by a woman resident in this British Columbia papermaking town for the results in the provincial election.

The returning officer pointed out to the telephoner that voting didn't end until 8 p.m.

"Oh, I only want partial results—I don't expect a complete count," she replied.

Few Problems

Vote-Counters Coped Manfully

Wednesday wasn't an easy day for the returning officers in the four Victoria ridings—the men who head up the vote-counters—but at least there weren't many problems of an unusual nature.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas, election clerk in Esquimalt, said that "a few people started to electioneer in some of the polling stations, but they soon got told off."

In most of the schools, business buildings and homes used as polling stations, small line-ups were noted as voting began at 8 a.m. Busiest times were during the noon hour and between 6 and 8 p.m.

Soldiers Fined $110 After 'Borrowing' Car

Three Gordon Head Army Camp soldiers, Thomas W. Roberts, Roland Asselin and Ewen D. McLarir, charged with taking a car without consent from Nation Motors, were each fined $110 or 30 days in city police court yesterday.

The three were arrested after the car concerned was involved in an accident Sunday.

Asselin, driver of the car, pleaded guilty in Saanich police court yesterday afternoon to a charge of careless driving and of driving without a licence.

He was fined $35 or five days on the first count and $25 on the second.

Robert John Thompson pleaded not guilty in city police court to a charge of causing a nuisance and endangering the public by tossing a beer bottle from a second-storey window of the Beverley Hotel, 724 Yates. He was remanded to Tuesday for trial.

Three young sailors were remanded to Monday for sentence when they pleaded guilty in city police court to assaulting Courtney G. Tower, 2359 Beach.

Capitol to Reopen, Atlas to Shut Down

Victoria's 1,312-seat Capitol Theatre, closed in May for "extensive renovations," will reopen without their officials said yesterday.

"If the optimism we now feel continues," said Maynard Joiner, Famous Players' provincial supervisor, "sometime in the near future we will make it one of the finest theatres in western Canada, and our plans are for a $100,000 project."

Mr. Joiner said that a new marquee, roof, heating system and other changes are being made at the Capitol.

The 974-seat Atlas Theatre, he said, will close at the end of next week, and its staff will be transferred to the Capitol and other Famous Players theatres in the city.

As the changes take place, the Capitol will again show first-run films, beginning with "The Proud and the Profane," and the Dominion will take over the Atlas policy of double features twice a week.

Martin Cave, Dominion Theatre manager, who was first employed by Famous Players as a doorman at the Capitol in 1929, will retain his present position and become manager of the Capitol as well.

Mr. Joiner also announced that the Atlas "Foto Nite" program Monday will be moved to the Dominion, and that two Vancouver theatres, the Kerrisdale and the Alma, are being reopened at the end of the month.

COHO FISHING BETTER: Best fishing news of the past few weeks is that anglers are starting to get some fair coho fishing after a long wait for the silvers to show.

Anglers have been getting a lot of coho on bucktail flies in Saanich Inlet and there has been good fishing during the past week or 10 days off Otter and Macaulay Points.

And last night's boathouse check brought the interesting information that the first coho are now in Cowichan Bay. They're taking bucktails and there are plenty of fish showing right from Cherry Point to Genoa Bay.

Moving north, reports on coho are good right from Clayton's Fishing Camp at Northwest Bay to Campbell River. Clayton's has had good fishing and it's rated as good at French Creek and Qualicum Beach.

Rough seas kept boats on shore last night but George Bates of the Bates Beach Boathouse said that fishing has been good and looked for it to get even better. All boats out Tuesday and Wednesday evening brought back coho and there are a lot of fish showing.

Coho are taking flies in all areas checked and there are a lot of big hook-noses, a good percentage of the silvers weighing in at more than 10 pounds and up to 17.

NAHMINT PRODUCES: Reports of excellent Tyee fishing in Nahmint Bay lured quite a number of Victorians during the past week or 10 days, and most of them found that it was a worthwhile trip.

Ken Sease and Louis Woenri arrived back yesterday more than pleased with accommodations at Gus Buefing's Nahmint Fishing Lodge and the fishing at the mouth of the Nahmint River.

Ken and his fishing partner caught salmon weighing 36½, 32½, 31 and 29½ pounds and Ken is trying to make arrangements for another try before the end of the season.

Mort Graham came back Wednesday with two springs and a coho taken on Tuesday. Fishing was slow for the first part of the week, improved Wednesday and was good yesterday. Mort just missed. However, Dr. and Mrs. Saxton of Chicago scored Wednesday morning with 45, 39, 33 and 29-pounders.

BILL FALLS IN LINE: I haven't heard his version yet but reports brought back from Nahmint say that Bill Defty, well-known Comox guide, is now convinced that you have to fish fairly deep for Nahmint Tyees.

Bill, who must spend half his time in enthusiastic pursuit of salmon, left for Nahmint Monday morning with Vic Ingraham, owner of the Arbutus Hotel in Courtenay, as his partner.

Bill likes to fish for Comox Tyees without weight, and has had considerable success, and wasn't convinced that weight was necessary at Nahmint, where most use from eight to 12 ounces on a short line.

According to reports, Bill didn't have any luck Monday or Tuesday and finally tried his lures deeper. The result was two Tyees Wednesday and two more yesterday for the Courtenay-Comox combination. Now Bill has more reason than ever for one of his favorite statements — "You never know about fish."

NEW STEELHEAD LURES: Steelhead lures change from year to year and this season one of the best is likely to be the Moto Spinner, a new lure made by Lühr Jensen and Sons of Hood River, Ore., who turn out some of the best quality fishing lures on the market.

Lühr Jensen, who was an Island visitor early this month, tested the Moto in the Ash River and heached six fine summer steelhead in short order. He has quite a number of steelhead lures on the market but says the Moto "is proving to be the most terrific steelhead lure we have ever found."

REELING IN: Spring salmon fishing is still quite good in Cowichan Bay. Rob Harmon, who has probably taken more salmon at Cowichan Bay this season than any other angler, boated a 26½-pounder yesterday morning. There was also a report of a 37½-pounder. . . the blue and white bucktail fly has been doing the best for Cowichan Bay coho. . . misplaced, the report of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' salmon derby is a bit late but the winner was F. H. Carr, who weighed in a 10-pound salmon. C. E. Young and E. Allen won second and third prizes and T. Alexander won the hidden-weight prize. . . also late is the report that Frank Hodgson, Nanaimo sheriff, was the winner of the Klwanis Fishing Derby held earlier this month at Qualicum Beach. Sam Keeble and Mrs. S. Mallek of Victoria were second and third prize-winners, respectively.

ANDY LEAVES VSIAA: Andy Anderson last night handed in his resignation as president of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers Association and it was reluctantly accepted by directors at their regular meeting.

Chairman of the ladder derby during its two most successful years, Andy has been president of the club for the past two years. During his term as a club official he put in many more hours than most realized and his hard work contributed a lot to what successes the VSIAA has had.

Bad health forced him to ask for a three months leave of absence earlier this year and was the big factor in his decision to give up his official capacity. He's going to be missed.

Indians Lead by Two But Brampton Better

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver, minute later on a shot by Howie Mount Pleasant Indians exploded for five goals in the fourth period of a Minto Cup lacrosse game here Tuesday to lace an 8-4 win over Brampton Excelsiors.

The outburst gave Mount Pleasant a 20 lead in their best-of-seven Canadian Junior lacrosse championship series with Excelsiors. Third game will be played here Saturday night. Excelsiors, who went down 20-7 in the series opener, held the B.C. champions closely during the first three periods. Score at the end of the third period, during which both squads failed to score, was 3-3.

Vancouver forward Bob Stewart failed the winner on a two-man breakaway while teammate Fred Usselman sat out a two-minute slashing penalty. The clincher came less than a

Information in Good Payoff; Scores First Win of Season

Information, nine-year-old chestnut mare who finished a well-beaten trailer on Tuesday, upset the dope at Sandown Park yesterday to set up the biggest price of the five-day-old thoroughbred meeting.

Making her 10th start of a hitherto winless season, Don Carley's veteran moved up steadily in the stretch to pick up Easter K. Come On Steve and Indian Springs, and then outlasted Riskshot to win by a half length.

Information paid $26.80 to win and combined with Riskshot, a 5-1 shot, for a quinella worth a neat $195.50.

GOOD PAYOFF However, it was another good day for chalk players as four favorites and a second choice won. Only either upset was Brazen Jewel's neck victory over Biscuit in the third race. The four-year-old gelding, last in his last start, rewarded backers with $22.90 for $2 on the nose.

Haney Admits Plate Woes But Won't Concede Braves

Milwaukee manager Fred Haney, shrugging off a 2-1 defeat by the Pittsburgh Pirates, said Thursday his Braves are far from "through" in the National League pennant race but pleaded for

"one big bat" to win it. In the league who'd trade places Haney, admitting he needs with me right now.

Haney, hitting most of all to catch The fiery manager, who said Brooklyn, said Thursday that his players weren't dismayed "we're in a good spot to take it by the full game lead of the all I know six other managers Dodgers, added: "We're like the guy with a bad cough who walks by the cemetery. There isn't a fellow buried there who wouldn't like to have the same cough."

Haney brushed off reports that tension was beginning to tell among the Braves. "The players aren't tense or disheartened—just mad."

SHIPP SOLD TO ALA: Rube Shipp, 275-pound tackle who had bitterly criticized his Toronto Argonaut coach, has been sold to Montreal Alouettes in a move that will strengthen an Alouette line that has shown in-and-out performance this season. Shipp had blasted Argonaut coach Bill Swacki on Wednesday, claiming Swacki had done "everything possible to keep me from making the club."

Bob Morgan, a holdover tackle with Calgary, has been given his release to make room for Floyd Harwood. . . Canadian lightweight champion Yvon Durelle scored a first-round knockout over Jerry Garafalo of New Jersey.

MORE SPEED: Donald Campbell, who Wednesday night set a world water speed record of 225.63 miles an hour in his jet speedboat Bluebird, plans to go still faster, but emphasized yesterday that much more research must be done first. . . End Jack Bighead, pass-catching specialist cut by Los Angeles Rams, has been signed by Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Coach Frank Hindle of Navy will be counting heavily on a weighty line to carry his Sailors to victory over Mayo Vampires in tonight's Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League game at Royal Athletic Park.

Hindle will have a line averaging about 200 pounds per player to send against Ray Mitchell's Vampires. Among those slated to see considerable action are tackles Joe Slusarenko and Bob Dougan, centre Gerry Hutton and guards Eddie Amos and Dennis Lick.

Tackle Doug Brown will see only limited action because of a leg injury, but Hindle still expects to use the lineman on kickoffs and place kicks.

In the backfield, running out of the twin-fullback formation, will be fullbacks Bill Schick and Bob Gooderham and halfback Red Larsen. Quarterback duties will be shared by Bud Brown and Chuck Thomas.

Braves Drop Full Game Behind As Pennant Pressure Tightens

Two games in front on the losing side, Brooklyn Dodgers can clinch the National League pennant by winning eight of their remaining nine games, make certain of nothing worse than a tie by winning seven.

Milwaukee's second-place 10-innings by Pittsburgh Pirates would appear to need centive.

At least six wins in their last seven games to retain any pennant chance, barring, of course, an unexpected Brooklyn slump. However, the Braves are now over the worst of their schedule and will be able to use Warren Spahn, their veteran southpaw mainstay, as a starter in three games, Lew Burdette as a starter in two and Bob Buhl as a starter in one and, perhaps, two.

Today's games: Brooklyn (Sal Maglie, 11-4) at Pittsburgh (Ron Kline, 13-4); St. Louis (Don Kaiser, 3-4) at Milwaukee (Warren Spahn, 12-11); St. Louis (Wilmer Mizell, 14-12) at Cincinnati (Joe Nuxhall, 12-11).

Balance of schedule: MILWAUKEE—Home vs Chicago Cubs Saturday and Sunday, at Cincinnati Tuesday and at St. Louis Wednesday and Monday, home to Philadelphia Tuesday and Wednesday, and home to Pittsburgh the following Friday. CINCINNATI—At home to St. Louis Saturday and Sunday, doubleheader at home to Milwaukee Tuesday and at Chicago the following Saturday and Sunday.

MEET CURS TODAY Braves play Chicago Cubs today in the first game of a three games, Lew Burdette as a starter in two and Bob Buhl as a starter in one and, perhaps, two.

Spahn, 18-10 this season and the club's most reliable pitcher in the stretch drive, will start today. Burdette will probably start tomorrow's game with Sunday's starter doubtful. It will probably be Spahn on Tuesday against the southpaw-touting Redlegs and Buhl, Burdette and Spahn in the final three games of the season.

Milwaukee, however, has had trouble with the last-place Cubs this season, boasting only an 11-8 edge. The Braves are 12-9 over the Reds and 12-7 over the Cardinals.

MAGIE READY Brooklyn will send Sal Maglie, 11-4 and winner of seven straight, against the Pirates today. Either Roger Craig or Carl Erskine will pitch tomorrow and Don Newcombe will go after No. 25 Sunday. The four-game series against the Pirates ends Monday.

Tuesday and Wednesday brings the pesky Philadelphia Phillies to Brooklyn and the Dodgers wind up at home with three more games against the Pirates.

The Pirates are a bad sixth but with six wins in 15 games, haven't exactly proved a set-up for the Dodgers. Pittsburgh's better pitchers are right-handers and the Brooks can expect to see Ron Kline and Bob Friend start two games each.

Against the Phillies, the Dodgers are only 18-8 for the season and they are certain to have to face Robin Roberts in one game. Roberts hasn't had a good season but he is anxious to make this his seventh straight 20-game season and will have more than usual in out and would appear to need centive.

Cincinnati Redlegs have four left against the Cards and two against the Cubs in addition to one against the Braves. However, the Reds have to count on both the Dodgers and Braves to slump if they are going to sneak in and chances are dull. Bob Friend balanced his record at 16-16 yesterday by holding the tense-up Braves to four hits. A 10th-inning single by Roberto Clemente, an outfielder drafted a few years ago from the Brooklyn organization, broke it up.

SHEPARD HOMERS Buhl pitched a fine game for the Braves but was trailing, 1-0, after eight innings because of Jack Shepard's seventh-inning home run. Buhl had given up only three hits when lifted for a pinch-hitter.

Chuck Tanner batted for him and walked, moved to second on a sacrifice, and scored with two out when Dale Long muffed what should have been a game-ending throw, then threw wide past third base trying to pick off Tanner.

NATIONAL LEAGUE Milwaukee 100 901 8-1 4-1 St. Louis 90 800 1-2 3-3 Pittsburgh 80 700 1-1 2-2 Buhl, Johnson 10, Craig 10, and Rube, Crandall 10, Friend and Shepard, Home run: Pittsburgh-Shepard.

World-Wide Newsreel, TV Groups to Boycott 1956 Olympics

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—British, American, European, Canadian and Australian television and newsreel organizations said Thursday they will boycott the 1956 Olympics because the Australian Olympic Committee has demanded cash payment for the right to film the games.

The games organizing committee countered with a statement stating that the TV and newsreel groups' original proposal for three minutes daily coverage was granted without charge. But they now want nine minutes, so a charge was asked for the extra time, the statement said.

Ken Hall, managing director of Australian-Cine-Sound, said TV and newsreel organizations refused to pay for the right to cover a news event when newspapers and radio do not have to pay for the privilege. He added that the Olympic committee's attitude meant 500,000,000 persons will not see films of the games.

The committee's counter-statement said that if they accede to "unreasonable demands," it will create a precedent which will adversely affect all sports. It added that the committee plans complete movie coverage for the joint distribution.

The joint statement of the TV and newsreel organizations said the decision to ignore the games was made by seven British and nine American television and newsreel groups, two Australian newsreel companies, nine European television organizations and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Asked in Melbourne whether he was surprised at this decision, W. S. Kent Hughes, chairman of the games organizing committee, said: "I am surprised at the altered conditions to the original plan."

He later issued a statement saying the Olympic organizing committee "regrets the action taken by British, American and European theatrical, newsreel and television organizations."

"The offer in accordance with their original proposal for three minutes a day still stands. No charge is being asked for this, therefore the refusal is not based on any payment for what is standard newsreel coverage."

However, it should be pointed out that millions of people the world over will not be deprived of seeing the Olympic Games as the committee is well advanced in its plan to have complete film-coverage for world distribution," the Olympic committee statement said.

Coffin Injured

Red Wings' Adams
Impressed by Dea

Billy Dea, speedy leftwinger who has played with Edmonton and Vancouver in the Western Hockey League the past two seasons, has impressed Detroit Red Wings officials in training camp sessions and may well play his hockey for the National League club this season.

The 25-year-old Dea, second highest scorer at Edmonton last year with 29 goals and 42 assists, filled in for the ailing Ted Lindsay on the Wings' production line Wednesday night and scored two goals and added a pair of assists in Detroit's 9-2 triumph over Edmonton.

REPLACES LINDSAY

General manager Jack Adams

said after the game that he was impressed by the work of

Dea, who was taking the place of the flustrated Lindsay on a line with the great Gordie

Howe and Norm Ullman.

"That was his big chance, and he really took advantage of it," Adams said.

However, Adams said yesterday that Hugh Coffin, a teammate of Dea who played one season with Chicago Black Hawks, suffered a cut achilles tendon in the game and may be sidelined for at least a month.

There was other training camp news yesterday. General manager Tommy Ivan, in charge of the Chicago Black Hawk training camp in the absence of coach Dick Irvin, said Thursday there was room for only one goalkeeper on the club this season.

LUMLEY VS. ROLLINS

Two veterans, Harry Lumley

and Al Rollins, are looking for the job and both have looked good in practice sessions.

"We will go with the one who shows the best form in training camp," Ivan said. "The other will be playing his trade

elsewhere."

Lumley was acquired by

Hawks from Toronto Maple

Leafs shortly after the close of the 1955-56 season in a $40,000

cash deal. He broke into NHL competition 13 years ago with

Detroit Red Wings, and played with Chicago from 1950-52.

Rollins began his NHL career in 1949 with Toronto and has been the Hawks' regular net-minder the past three seasons.

IVAN "SATISFIED"

Ivan also said yesterday he is "completely satisfied" with the way the team is shaping up. "For the last couple of years we've been looking for big players who can also play hockey. With 200-pound de-fencemen like Bud MacPherson,

Elmer Vasko and Frank Martin, along with forwards like Harry

Watson, Ed Mazur and Hank

Ciesla our club won't take any pushing around," he said.

Six Referees to Work
Western Puck Games

Referees in the Western Hockey League will have things a bit easier this season than usual, an item which could well result in a better brand of officiating.

League president Al Leader announced yesterday that the WHL will employ six referees this season, one working on a full-time basis and the other five used as needed or as available.

This is a change from past seasons, when four referees usually tried to work all the games in the far-flung league. Some handled upwards of 100 games and overwork could be blamed for any "off" nights they may have had.

As announced earlier, popular Scotty Morrison will be referee-in-chief. The colorful little whistle-blower, recently transferred to Vancouver by his firm, will officiate in as many games as possible. Because of his job, most of his games will be weekend affairs in the Western half of the league.

Vernon Buley of Toronto is the only fulltime referee. Buley, having been a WHL referee several years ago and a linesman here for the past few years, Hamilton worked as a linesman in Calgary last season and before that at Vancouver and New Westminster.

Gurba is the third linesman to win a promotion. He worked at Brandon last season and has considerable experience as a referee in Manitoba amateur hockey.

Valiere is well known here, having been a WHL referee several years ago and a linesman here for the past few years. Hamilton worked as a linesman in Calgary last season and before that at Vancouver and New Westminster.

Reaches Semis of U.S. Golf

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., defeated Wanda Sanchez of Baton Rouge, La., 1 up Thursday to enter the semi-finals of the United States women's amateur golf tournament.

The Canadian girl's victory marked up the most decisive victory in the morning round with a 7-and-6 decision over Mrs. Albert Hayes of Bala, Pa.

Marlene, winner of six straight Canadian women's Close titles, racked up the most decisive victory in the morning round with a 7-and-6 decision over Mrs. Albert Hayes of Bala, Pa.

Joanne Gunderson, a 17-year-old from Kirkland, Wash., conquered 37-year-old Mrs. Helen Sigel Wilson of Philadelphia 3 and 2 in another quarter-final match and Anne Quast, a 19-year-old university sophomore from Everett, Wash., won by the same score over Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex.

This afternoon in the 18-hole semi-finals over the Meridian Hills course Miss Stewart will play Miss Quast and Miss Gunderson, the junior champion, will oppose Mrs. Anne Casey Johnston, a one-time professional from Mason City, Iowa.

Mrs. Johnston gained a couple of fairly easy victories in Thursday's double round. She disposed of Greta Leone of Chicago 3 and 1 and then whipped Mrs. William Harrison of San Francisco 4 and 3.

Marlene was two-up on Miss Sanchez after nine holes, shooting one under par, but she lost her margin when Miss Sanchez birdied the 11th and parred the 16th to Miss Stewart's bogie.

The Canadian girl won on the 17th with a par four when Miss Sanchez four-putted for a double bogie six.

By ROY PARRETT

We are trying out a 21-inch RCA color set at our house these days, now there are an ever increasing number of color shows available, particularly on channel

1. In spite of the poor reception on both channels 1 and 5 these days the results are reasonably satisfactory.

Certainly color adds a great deal to television, even the smaller programs produced in the KOMO TV studios have an attraction not found in black and white. And the spectacular, when viewed in full color, become spectacular indeed.

KOMO-TV has about

60 hours of color scheduled for this month and

KING-TV and KINTV-TV have some color shows

as well. Network telecasts in color will be greatly increased next month when ABC-TV

starts using its new system of recording color shows on lensular film for release in color, on the West Coast.

Reports on these programs will be reported here as we have the opportunity to see more of the color shows.

CHECK TV "SKYHOOK" When Victoria's channel 6 station begins operating next month it will be using a new type antenna, the first of its kind in this area.

The TV station will consist of a check of spillovers, which radiate in all directions and will be capable of handling a full 100,000 watt output if this power is required at some future date.

Robin Hood encounters new adventures in Sherwood

Forest as he tangles with Nottingham's sheriff, on channel 2 at 8 tonight.

It is music and song by Eddie Arnold following at 6:30 on the same channel.

On channel 4 there is a lightweight bout between Chuck Spuler and Hans Strelitz at 7.

Bette Davis and writer Bob Considine are interviewed on Ed Murrow's channel 11 show at 7:30.

Jack Carson is a harried TV director in the Studio

57 drama on channel 3 at 8.

Shakespeare's "Macbeth" is staged for channel 2 at 8.

Hall of Stars has James Whitmore as a genial host in "A Man Named James," at 8:30 on channel 4.

Western adventure on channel 5 features a story about Jim Bowie at 9.

A woman wants to adopt a child but has a secret in the channel 4 story, "We Who Love Her," at 9.

"Top Secret" is a tense story of intrigue in a Middle East country on channel 11 at 9:30.

"Train to Alcatraz" is the channel 4 movie at 10:00.

A mad scientist and a beautiful horse battle in "Red Stations in the Rockies," on channel 12 at 10:30.

On channel 11 an innocent man goes to prison in

"Helgate," only to break out, at 11:30.

Bill Elliott and Amy Jeffers star in the channel 1 movie, "Rodeo Town Gunfight," at 12:35.

At 11:45, channel 3 will have Cesar Romero and June

Haver in "Once a Thief," a story about a cheap gangster.

Nanaimo-Vancouver Swim Worth $5,000

If Ferry Halts

Industry Facing Threat

Residents of Texada Island will be cut off from a car ferry service at the end of the month unless a quick decision is made on provision of new wharf facilities.

This would be a crippling blow to industrial development of the island which has lime quarries, an iron mine, 10 logging companies and a population of some 1,200.

There are an estimated 600 cars and trucks operated by island residents and business concerns.

Since CPR and Union Steamship car ferry service ceased just over a year ago, the island has been served by Davis Shipping of Nanaimo, which has run four trips to Powell River under a government subsidy.

Capt. H. C. R. Davis, like island residents, said last night that the service should be continued.

He explained that the federal government wharf now in use has only a 25-foot loading ramp where a 70-foot ramp is required. He said the senior government had asked his company to stop using the wharf.

H. W. G. Harrison, president of Texada Island Community Society, said the federal and provincial governments must decide whether permanent and suitable wharf facilities are to be built to allow continuation of the service.

Mr. Harrison said a delegation of Texada Islanders plans to interview Evan Jones, deputy minister of highways, in Victoria Monday.

Barges operate between the island and Powell River, but these carry only freight. A good fast boat passenger service is also in operation to Powell River. Neither of these services is threatened.

Asphalt Tipped Into Sea

When Ian Grimsson of Sidney attempted to deliver a load of asphalt to road mending operations at Rest Haven Hospital, he had to cross a trestle. But the trestle didn't hold.

The decked bridge, which leads from the mainland to the little island on which the hospital is built, is old, and the truck dumped its load into the sea when wheels on one side went through the plank.

Grimsson wasn't hurt.

Woman in Tears

Island Man Denies Brutal Assault, Rape

NANAIMO—A tearful 22-year-old mother told an Assize Court jury yesterday of an alleged brutal assault upon her in which she was severely beaten and raped.

In the prisoner's dock was William Pielke of Campbell River. He pleaded not guilty to a rape charge. He is defended by Nanaimo lawyer E. D. Strongtharm. Trial judge is Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

The woman, who lives with her common-law husband, told the court that she was attacked by Pielke during the early hours of Aug. 5 following a party at Squirrel Cove. She accused Pielke of following her up a hill, grabbing her arm and throwing her on the ground.

She alleged that she screamed and every time she screamed he hit her. According to medical evidence, she had wounds on her head, neck, chest, and upper arms and legs. She also had a black eye. The trial goes on today. It is the last case of the present assizes.

Attempt to Be Made Sometime Next Year

CAMPBELL RIVER—Michael Geohegan, first and only person to swim the 32 miles from Campbell River to Powell River and across treacherous Seymour Narrows, has been offered $5,000 by a Vancouver lumber merchant to swim from Nanaimo to Vancouver.

The husky swimmer plans to make the attempt next year.

Accompanied by his navigator, John Humphries, he crossed Georgia Strait to Powell River again yesterday, this time by boat—to open a fall fair at the mainland community.

Campbell River village commission has completed arrangements for a banquet at Forbes Landing Lodge where Geohegan will be presented with a special trophy commemorating his gruelling 14-hour 20-minute swim last month from Campbell River to the mainland.

Why Do Girls Leave Home?

NANAIMO—Reason for the shortage of stenographers in Nanaimo, which was reported in The Daily Colonist some weeks ago, has perhaps been found.

Mrs. Don Cunliffe offered one explanation to the Nanaimo Local Council of Women this week. She thought the young girls are attracted to places where there are more chances for marriage. She said: "They leave for Vancouver and they get married."

"Surely there are some eligible young men in Nanaimo."

Unions Resent Pickets?

CAMPBELL RIVER—Reports were current here yesterday that unions not directly concerned in efforts of hard rock miners to secure recognition of the Tunnel and Rock Workers' Union may no longer honor picket lines.

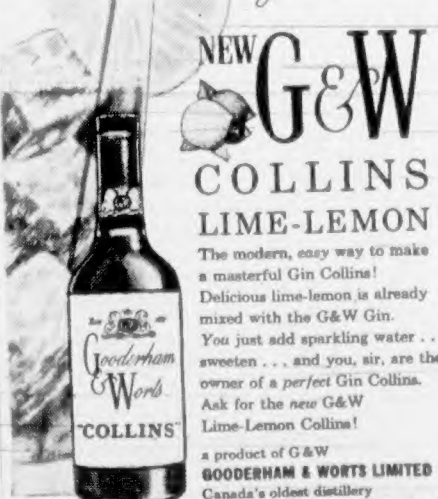

The miners are picketing the Ripple Rock tunnel job and the B.C. Power Commission's Upper Campbell Lake project.

The reports, which were unconfirmed, suggested many members of carpenters', electrical workers', boilermakers', and iron workers' unions wanted to go back to work.

Members of these unions have been honoring the miners' picket lines since the strike started early last week.

Murison Decries Financing System

Maj.-Gen. C. A. P. Murison, reeve of North Cowichan, doesn't think much of the present system of financing municipal operations.

So he implied yesterday when he spoke to Victoria Rotarians on problems of local government, leaving them with three questions:

Do we wish local governments to evolve through integration or disintegration?

Do we want grants from senior governments to be based on principles or on expediency?

Do we wish the relationship with the provincial government to be a partnership or the relationship of managing director and local agent?

The senior governments, the reeve said, "are consistent in this: they have denied local governments any direct share in the asset side of our boyant economy."

Instead of municipal ends meeting, they tended to grow farther apart, he claimed.

The principal source of municipal revenue was taxation of

Speeder Hits Engine

Six Hurt in Crash On Logging Railway

PORT ALBERNI—Six men were injured in a speeder-locomotive collision some nine miles beyond MacMillan and Bloedel Franklin River Camp B early yesterday. Only one of the injured is believed to be seriously hurt. Four are in hospital.

Nine men, including the operator, were on the speeder returning from fire patrol at 7:43 a.m. when the speeder hit a locomotive on the logging railway.

Of the six injured, one suffered a broken ankle, one a broken collar bone, and one injured back injuries. The other three escaped with arm and leg bruises and were able to walk to the Port Alberni and district ambulance, which was waiting at Camp B when the men were brought in from the woods. Camp B is 30 miles by road from Port Alberni.

The injured were attended by personnel supervisor Charles Wiseman and safety supervisor R. W. Garner. Names of the injured have not been released.
